

February 4, 2013

For Immediate Release

Great Backyard Bird Count Activities at the Bob Jones Nature Center

Southlake, Texas – February 15-17, 2013 – Join the Bob Jones Nature Center for Great Backyard Bird Count activities. The Great Backyard Bird Count is an annual event in association with the National Audubon Society and the Cornell Lab of Ornithology. Bird lovers of all ages and skill levels participate in counting birds to assist scientists in developing a “big picture” about what is happening to bird populations locally, regionally, nationally, and globally.

Schedule of Activities:

Friday, February 15, 2013

Guided Bird Hike - Dr. Ray Chancellor, Southlake Ornithological Society
Quail Creek Trail 8:00 am
Free

Saturday, February 16, 2013

Guided Bird Hike – Dr. Ray Chancellor, Southlake Ornithological Society
Bob Jones Park Trail 8:00 am
Free

Sunday, February 17, 2013

Presentation & Guided Bird Hike – Dr. Tania Homayoun, Dogwood Canyon
Audubon Center
Bob Jones Nature Center 2:00 pm
$5.00/BJNC Members $10.00/Nonmembers

For more information contact tmoss@bjnc.org or visit the Bob Jones Nature Center website at <http://www.bjnc.org>.

The mission of the Bob Jones Nature Center is to preserve local natural resources and history by providing places of compatible recreation and fostering education about our natural environment.

Contact: Teresa Moss, Executive Director
Bob Jones Nature Center
355 E Bob Jones Rd
Southlake, TX 76092
817-491-6333